Title: Active learning, Effect of non-verbal communication.

Dated:

Question no 1:

Write Three advantages and disadvantages of Active learning.

ACTIVE LEARNING

ADVANTAGES

1. Encourages risk taking:

Students may initially resist the move to active learning - after all, it's easy to sit in class and take notes until the talking is done. Active learning pulls students out of their comfort zone by creating an environment where risk taking is encouraged. As they get more comfortable sharing their thoughts, defending their conclusions and building on each other's ideas, they'll gain confidence and self-possession.

2. Increases engagement:

Students who are actively learning are actively engaged. Whether solving a problem, debating an issue or researching a concept, they are processing ideas and forging deeper understanding.

3. Improves critical thinking:

In a world where fake news has become part of our daily discourse, the ability to identify a legitimate source or spot a faulty argument is only becoming more important. Active learning shifts the focus of learning from passively digesting information to being accountable for actively engaging with sources of and perspectives. And when students share ideas, they learn to build stronger arguments, challenge presumptions and recognize leaps of logic.

DISADVANTAGES

1. Often perceived as boring.
2. May be viewed as irrelevant or unnecessary by students.
3. Often require more time for the instructor to prepare well.
4. Less efficient than didactic learning for presenting foundational knowledge.
5. May be frustrating for students who are not prepared to participate.
6. Can ~~ca~~ not cover much content.

Question no 2:

What is the effect of non verbal communication in our daily life.

Non Verbal Communication

Non verbal (personal) communication may be defined as the communication between the Sender and the Receiver when both physically present at a place use the means other than language or spoken word to convey their feelings and thoughts.

What you communicate through your body language and nonverbal signals effects how others see you, how well they like and respect you, and whether or not they trust you. Unfortunately, many people send confusing or negative nonverbal signals without even knowing it. You can't express them in a text message or email. The person you are talking to might not be able to understand the non-verbal cues. They all are effect in our daily life.
